Studio Couch

This versatile couch features an attractive steam bent frame consisting of tapered spindles and arched arm rests. The back rest is formed from a large board of Ash. Designed to function as a large couch and as an occasional single bed for guests, this distinctive sofa is both eye catching and wonderfully flexible. The seat and back cushions are made of foam and offer a comfortable sit. Rubberised webbing at the base of the settee provides extra support. The couch will be covered in your choice from a range of ercol fabrics, to suit the style and decor of your home.

The studio couch frame will be finished in your choice of a selection of lacquer finishes or in a choice of painted colour finishes, which protects the timber as well as fitting in with your style and decor.
